

Submission on the Australian Innovation System

Innovation Policy: Necessary But Not Sufficient

Contributors:

Gary Hancock
Noel Lindsay
Allan O'Connor

Entrepreneurship, Commercialisation and Innovation Centre, The University of Adelaide

John Rice
The University of Adelaide Business School

Peter Galvin
Graduate School of Business, Curtin University of Technology

For further information contact:

ECIC | Entrepreneurship
Commercialisation
and Innovation Centre

Engineering South Building
North Terrace
Adelaide, SA 5005
Tel: (08) 8303 7422 Fax: 8303 7512

06 May 2008

Declaration of Interests and Affiliations

The Entrepreneurship, Commercialisation and Innovation Centre (ECIC) mission is to stimulate Australian innovation through entrepreneurship and commercialisation research, education, and training. As part of the Faculty of Engineering, Computer, and Mathematical Sciences at the University of Adelaide, it has a core team of experienced faculty and affiliates who have owned and operated their own businesses and who are across contemporary entrepreneurship theories, models, and practices.

While the ECIC is fully supported by the university it does from time to time attract industry and government sponsorship to support particular programs, events and activities. In the interests of openness and community engagement the ECIC also regularly invites various industry and government representatives to participate in advisory functions.